

— All Doshisha Research Model 2025 —

FY2022 research support on the project, SDGs studies of Doshisha University
-“Folks, each one person matters.”-

Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are the successors to the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) formulated in 2001, and were unanimously adopted by member countries at the United Nations Summit in September 2015. It is an international goal for a sustainable and better world by 2030, as set forth in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. It constituted 17 goals and 169 targets and pledged to ensure “no one will be left behind.”

The Organization for Research Initiatives & Development (ORID) has created the All Doshisha Research Model in the "Doshisha University Vision 2025" medium-term action plan. The COVID-19 Research Project conducted in 2020 was a trial of the All Doshisha Research Model. It gathered together various studies and reported its outcomes. Based on these achievements, we will launch the All Doshisha Research Model 2025 for our Vision 2025. In the Model 2025, we will select and support research projects to achieve the SDGs for three years from 2022.

Joseph Hardy Neesima, the founder of Doshisha Academy, roots of Doshisha University, has spoken, "Folks, each one person matters." His phrase's essence is synonymous with the "No one will be left behind" pledge in the SDGs. We aim to enhance our studies, promote research integration, and disseminate Doshisha University's work on the SDGs to the world.

1. Requirement of the research when applying

The research must be novel research meeting the 17 goals of the SDGs and 169 specific targets to achieve them and must contribute to the sustainable development of society.

For details on the goals of SDGs 17, refer to the following URL.
