

Part-time Work

You have entered Doshisha University for the purpose of learning and are given/entitled the status of residence as “College Student”. (You have enrolled in Doshisha University for the purpose of studying with a College Student visa.) That means, until you complete your education, your activities in Japan are limited to academic ones. If you plan to engage in other activities such as part-time jobs, you are required to obtain “Permission to Engage in Activity other than that Permitted under the Status of Residence Previously Granted.” (Please refer ‘Permission to Engage in Activity other than that Permitted under the Status of Residence Previously Granted’) Please do not forget to have this permission and be careful not to work longer than the hours permitted.

Part-time jobs at places of entertainment and amusement businesses (nightclubs, bars, or Pachinko-parlors) are forbidden.

Working at these kinds of places, as well as engaging in part-time jobs without having permission, can result in punishment/penalty or deportation from the country.

We understand that living in Japan as an international student will cost you considerably and is not easy for you. There might be cases where the amount of remittance from your home and/or scholarship are not enough to cover your entire costs and you have to work part time in order to complement academic or other expenses. However, what matters most is learning and you must give top priority to it. Please keep in mind that spending longer hours working part-time at the cost of learning cannot be tolerated. Office of International Education will act as an intermediary when you apply for permission, but we will turn down applications by those with poor grades and/or unsatisfactory attendance.

The Student Support Services Department can give you some information on part-time job openings. Visit Doshisha University website to access “part-time job opening.” For access and/or registration, you must have your e-mail address issued by the university. If you have never used the service, please register and gain your ID as well as password. After registration is completed, access from your cellular phone is also available.
