Beyond ‘Business As Usual’

Established in 1875, Doshisha University is widely recognized as one of Japan’s top comprehensive universities, with a distinguished history of education based on founder Joseph Hardy Neesima’s philosophy of “education guided by conscience”. Doshisha Business School (DBS) opened in 2004, following a long tradition of successful Kyoto-based global corporations such as Omron, Kyocera, Shimadzu, and Nintendo. Our English-language Global MBA was inaugurated alongside the school’s Japanese MBA in 2009, and following five successful years was strengthened as an independent Global MBA (Global Business and Management Studies) in 2014 with a bolstered dedicated faculty and expanded course offerings. Sharing the vision of our university’s founder, we strongly believe that companies and businesspeople must strive not only for financial success, but also to make a positive social contribution to the world in which we live.

With a focus on sustainability, the Doshisha Global MBA guides students to explore and enquire beyond the established boundaries set by established theories and practices of global business and management to look beyond ‘business as usual’. As they grow into global-minded leaders, students will not only cover the breadth of standard MBA core subjects, but also develop deeper insights from our three focus areas, and hone their analytical prowess through the research component.

Our aim is to prepare future business leaders who are willing and able to respond effectively to the emerging needs of the increasingly diverse groups of people participating in the global economy. Doshisha Business School’s Global Business and Management Studies offers a unique experience to students and professors willing to work in partnership when exploring — and challenging — traditions and trends in global business and management.

Doshisha Business School is located in the beautiful and historic city of Kyoto, within Japan’s “Kansai” region (centered around Kyoto–Osaka–Kobe). Set in picturesque natural surroundings, Kyoto offers an exciting blend of traditional and modern, with 17 UNESCO World Heritage sites, various artistic and spiritual pursuits, a safe and fun nightlife, and much more. The Kansai region is also the industrial heart of Japan, with a large number of manufacturers and numerous R&D centers and high-tech science parks. We encourage students to capitalize on being in this special place with its historic network of innovative and creative industries.

People Hold The Key

Since its inception, a striking feature of the Doshisha Global MBA has been the diversity of the people who make our MBA experience special. The students we work with come from a wide variety of backgrounds: to illustrate, from 2009 to the present year we have welcomed students from seventy countries. Correspondingly, we welcome applications from aspiring and inspiring individuals regardless of gender, ethnicity, nationality, or religion.

If you’re seeking a career boost and would like to make a difference through business, take a good look at the Doshisha Global MBA (Global Business and Management Studies). We look forward to hearing from you.
Program Highlights

Global MBA Focus Areas

Sustainability and Green Business

Drawing on Kyoto’s legacy as birthplace of the Kyoto Protocol, and on the advances of Japanese companies in developing green technologies and adopting sustainable business practices, our Sustainability and Green Business courses provide students with a solid foundation in the theory and practice of managing firms in a sustainable way, including increasing energy efficiency, reducing waste, managing the environmental impact of business, and finding ways to promote sustainability in all aspects of a company’s operations.

Culture and Creativity

Cultural and creative industries — ranging from anime, music, video games, and film to fashion, design, traditional crafts, and cultural tourism — are dynamic sectors in today’s knowledge economy with far reaching economic, social, and political implications. Japanese pop culture, for example, is not just big business; it is considered a form of “soft power” that brings the world closer together.

More broadly, creativity and innovation are increasingly demanded of individuals, companies, and societies in today’s competitive business environment. Global MBA Culture and Creativity courses prepare students to manage successfully in the cultural sector and give them a creative edge that can be applied in any company or industry.

Business in Asia

Accounting for one third of world GDP — greater than that of the United States or the EU — Asia is the most dynamic region of the world economy. And not just as a cheap-labor based producer of manufactured goods; Asian companies are leading innovators and Asian markets for other countries’ products and services are the fastest growing in the world. As Doshisha Business School is home to both Global and Japanese MBA programs, Global MBA students with a suitable level of Japanese are able to take a number of Japanese MBA classes. Japanese students are also encouraged to take some Global MBA courses in English. This provides a great opportunity to interact with Japanese MBA students, most of whom are full-time managers in Kansai companies.

Preparation for Japan-related Job Opportunities

For those interested in working in Japan or for a Japanese company overseas, the Global MBA provides practical training and advice on job hunting in Japan, and access to Japanese language courses offered by the university’s Center for Japanese Language and Culture free of charge.

Overseas Partner Universities

Adding another dimension to their experience, students have the opportunity to apply to study at one of our overseas partner universities. We also welcome exchange students from these institutions, adding to the cosmopolitan nature of the Doshisha Global MBA.

Japanese Language and Culture Courses

Doshisha’s Center for Japanese Language and Culture (CJLC) offers a wide range of courses for international students studying in undergraduate and graduate programs at Doshisha. A certain number of these courses are open to Global MBA students, free of charge. Please note, however, that these courses cannot be included in the 46 credits required for the MBA degree.
Japanese Firms Recruiting International Students

With a shrinking domestic market and a generation of young Japanese that tends to look more inward than abroad, Japanese companies are sharply increasing their recruitment of non-Japanese as they expand their global operations. What these companies seek in their non-Japanese recruits are language ability, an understanding of Japanese business practices, strong drive, and the communication skills and perspective that come from experience in a multicultural environment. Many are also making efforts to shift their corporate culture from the closed style of the past — with rigid labor practices and reliance on Japanese-speaking staff — to a more open, international style that welcomes diversity, new ideas, and fresh perspectives on how to do business.

Corporate Internships

Corporate internships offer students a chance to apply what they’ve learned in the classroom to the real world, to experience business practices first-hand, and to expand their network of business connections. They also give students and companies a chance to get to know each other, and can lead to employment opportunities after graduation.

Many Global MBA students do internships, either in Japan or overseas. Among the business areas they have worked in are market entry research, business development, data analysis, diversity management, and corporate communications. Students may also use an internship as part of the research for their master’s thesis or research project report.

Career Advancement

An MBA is an investment in your future, whether you are looking to change careers or to move into a managerial position in your present field. Today’s job market for MBAs is strong. According to a corporate recruiters survey conducted by the Graduate Management Admissions Council (GMAC), demand for business school graduates is high globally with 81% of employers surveyed planning to hire MBA holders in 2018.

Business in Asia has long interested me because of its economic growth during the past decade, and one reason I decided on the Doshisha Global MBA is that it offers students the opportunity to deepen their knowledge of this subject as one of the focus areas of the program. I want to study the relationship between foreign direct investment, export, and economic growth, and the content of this program is valuable for my research and my future career plan. Also, I’m confident that the cosmopolitan class of students will bring wealth, experience, and an enjoyable atmosphere during the two years of the program.

A decade of professional experience in mining and related industries as an environmentalist created a desire within me to significantly improve my business acumen. Doshisha Business School presented an attractive and unique combination of a balanced curriculum firmly rooted in business while offering the flexibility to pursue my area of focus, sustainability and green business. DBS boasts global enrollment resulting in a diverse cohort within a Japanese context. I know my time at DBS will be exceedingly challenging and fervently fulfilling. I endeavor to exercise the knowledge and experience gained at DBS in order to progress into a responsible global citizen and effective professional.

From my previous experience I strongly believe that diversity is the key to success, better growth, and more knowledge. At DBS, students from all over the world and professors from different backgrounds come together to make a perfect combination for the ultimate learning environment. Moreover, the Global MBA program’s philosophy of ‘beyond business as usual’ was one of the main attractions for me since experience approaching business topics from a variety of angles will give me the tools and skills to be creative when it comes to analyzing business situations in my career.

Let’s not forget that being in Kyoto for two years and experiencing this beautiful city is an unforgettable experience that no one would want to miss!

Nahashon Nzioka Nthenya

There was no better place to experience Japanese culture than in Kyoto. My decision to study abroad emanated from a deep desire to experience an international educational environment coupled with a diverse pool of classmates who would share their work experiences from various industries, and DBS offered exactly that. Interacting with classmates and faculty members sharpened my critical thinking, proficiency in analytical methods, skills in sharing research results, and fostered my ability to work independently. I’m sure that these attributes will be crucial and relevant to my studies and career.

Kanta Kri-anupong

I started my studies with hardly any knowledge about business, but thanks to DBS I was able to develop my understanding of management, broaden my skills, and gain precious knowledge from my professors and from experiences in and out of the classroom with friends who come from all around the world. I would say that during my two years at Doshisha Business School, I not only gained business and management skills, but also developed as a person with better critical thinking skills and the ability to work in a multicultural environment. Being located in Kyoto, I also had a great chance to learn more about Japanese culture, which will be beneficial for my future career. I believe that I am the person I am today thanks to Doshisha Business School.

The Global MBA was a great stepping stone to starting my own business in Japan. My professors, classmates, the office staff, and company sponsors were excellent resources during my studies. Working with businesses in Kyoto and assisting them in solving their problems in my classes gave me valuable insights into businesses in Japan. Now that I have started my own film production company, I am able to continue to utilize the knowledge networks that I have built up over my two years at DBS.
